HAYNES GETS TEMPORARY APPOINTMENT REPORT SHELL FIRE SAVES FOREIGNERS IN DEMONSTRATION

FAVORITE OF ANTI-SALOON BODY NAMED DEPARTMENT CHIEF

Willis Helps Force Choice Over Mellon Selection

WASHINGTON, March 24.—Roy A. Haynes, strongly backed by the anti-saloon league, was named temporary prohibition commissioner today under the reorganization of the dry administration.

Haynes' appointment was a clear-cut victory for the league, which had campaigned unceasingly for one of its own men in the job.

It is an open secret in Washington that both Secretary of the Treasury Mellon and Gen. Lincoln C. Andrews, assistant secretary in charge of prohibition, had agreed upon L. D. Pennington, a former naval officer, for the job, but the league's pressure was such that President Coolidge was moved to give Haynes the call.

Ernest W. Camp of Michigan, was named chief of the customs division at the same time.

Gen. Andrews, in particular, was known strongly to oppose Haynes' appointment.

The Andrews candidate was Pennington, but the league and its senatorial spokesman, Senator Frank B. Willis (R), of Ohio, waged such a militant campaign for the selection of a radical dry that Andrews' recommendation was over-ruled at the White House.

In view of this fact, and Gen. Andrews' dissatisfaction with certain other phases of the present outlook, there were reports here today that he may soon resubmit his resignation. Andrews resigned once before, just prior to the last election, but was prevailed upon by President Coolidge and Secretary Mellon to withdraw it.

Both Mellon and Andrews himself denied, however, there will be any resignation. It was evident, however, that Andrews was greatly nettled over the appointment, for it brings back into the prohibition saddle an active Anti-Saloon League worker who was virtually shelved when Andrews took over the machine two years ago.

Andrews is said to have left a conference with Mellon, assistant secretary of the Treasury, and other officials, in a huff when it became apparent that Haynes was to be appointed.

Both Secretary Mellon and Gen. Andrews emphasized to newspaper men that Haynes' appointment was "temporary."

"Major Haynes will remain as commissioner, pending complete determination of arrangements for reorganization of the prohibition bureau," said Mellon. "He was made 'acting commissioner' at this time because I am leaving the city and have not had time to give the matter final determination."

Fitch, after denying that Andrews had or would resign, Mellon added:

"With the appointment as it is, there is, of course, freedom of action, and changes are always possible."

Andrews did not attempt to conceal his disappointment over the re-election of Haynes.

"Well," he said, shortly, "it won't have any effect in changing my policies of enforcement, which the treasury has approved."

"There is no use speculating over my future."

Haynes is to have the title, "Acting Prohibition Commissioner."

ARREST SUSPECT IN CINCINNATI DEATH

CINCINNATI, O., March 24.—Believing they had determined the approximate scene of the killing of Harold H. Fitch, whose bullet-riddled body was found Saturday on a suburban road near here, detectives today planned to further question Harry Turner, 27, who has been ordered held as a material witness in the case.

Turner was lodged in the county jail here after investigators learned from his neighbors in Reading, O., a suburb, that shots were heard in that vicinity early Saturday morning.

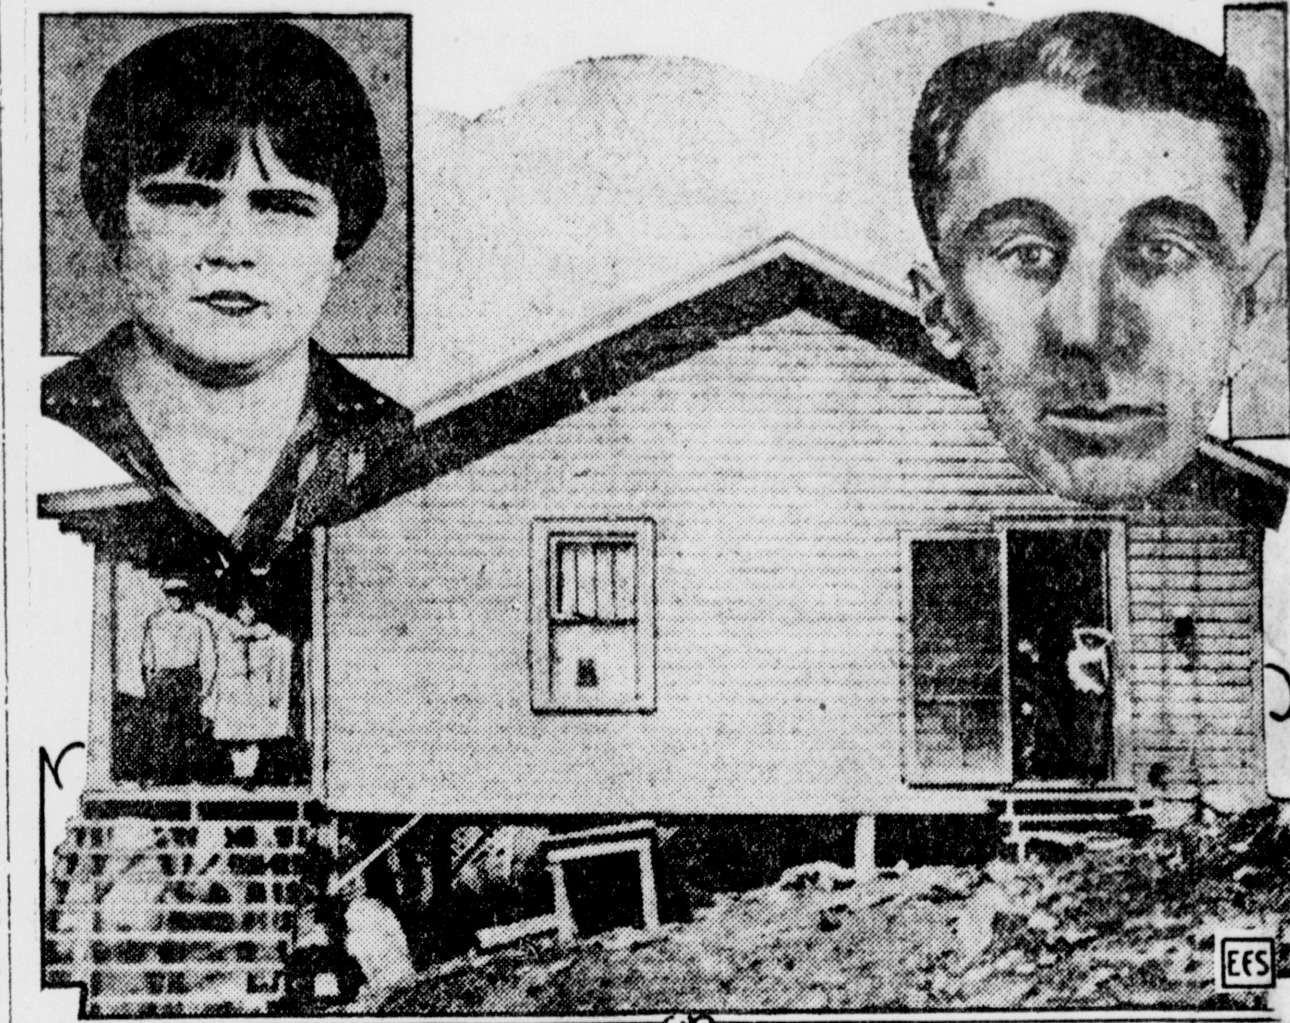

Fitch, suspected of having participated to some degree in the operations of a Cleveland-Columbus-Cincinnati liquor running ring, was believed to have been killed in a hijacking war, detectives said today.

TONG WARS RENEWED

"GHOST GIRL" SAVES MAN JAILED FOR MURDER

As Condy Dabney, 33, miner of Coal Creek, Tenn., was serving a life sentence at Frankfort, Ky., following his conviction for the murder of 16-year-old Mary Dickery, his supposed victim turned up, after an absence of 19 months. Marie Jackson, chief witness against Dabney is in jail awaiting grand jury probe. Above: Mary Dickery's humble home, Dabney, and newest picture of the "ghost girl."

WOMAN WHO SENT INNOCENT MAN TO JAIL IDENTIFIES SKELETON

Declares She Knows Who Killed Woman Found In Mine—Says She Accepted Money To Keep Quiet

HARLAN, Ky., Mar. 24.—A "surprising revelation" will be made here late today in connection with the Mary Vickery "murder case," county authorities declared to International News Service.

They declined, however, to indicate the nature of the expected development.

The latest story of Marie Jackson, 27, whose admitted perjury testimony in the "murder" of the 16-year-old Vickery girl brought a life sentence upon an innocent man, was to be thoroughly investigated by authorities today.

From her cell in the County Jail here the woman, in a sworn statement, admitted that her testimony against Condy Dabney, a young miner and taxi driver, in connection with the "slaying" was false.

In her statement, the woman declared that the skeleton, believed to have been that of Mary Vickery, which was found in an abandoned mine previous to Dabney's trial, as that of Mrs. Lella Hicks Cole, who disappeared from here about two years ago.

She also named a man whom she declared she knew to be the slayer of Mrs. Cole. She said the man had given her "fifty dollars to keep quiet about it."

Dabney's life sentence was abruptly terminated by Governor Fields when the Vickery girl returned here very much alive. Dabney had served eleven months of his term.

Dr. Houck, following a mental breakdown, is under care of friends at Albany, Oregon.

Mrs. Houck's body was found floating in Eastern Branch here yesterday. She had been missing since Dec. 13, when she and her husband had a violent quarrel. Dr. Houck, mentally unbalanced, was later picked up at Hornell, N. Y.

Everything points to Mrs. Houck's having been drowned, authorities said.

ALBANY, Ore., March 24.—Dr. Knute H. Houck, Washington, D. WASHINGTON, March 24.—Secretary of the Treasury Andrew W. Mellon will sail for Europe tonight, it was announced here today.

Mellon is sailing to visit his daughter, Mrs. David K. E. Bruce, who has been in ill health for some months.

His trip, he said, was purely private and has no official significance.

WASHINGTON, March 24.—Mrs. Ruth Snyder, comely and alluring widow of Albert Snyder, slain art editor of "Motor Boating," and her lover, Henry Judd Gray, both under indictment for first degree murder, spent a sleepless, restless night in Queens County jail while they awaited their next ordeal—joint arraignment today before Justice Stephen Callaghan, in the supreme court, at Long Island City, to plead to the indictments.

The hollow-eyed, haggard defendants were both ready to plead not guilty. Both are going to fight for their lives and it will be a battle against each other. For Gray accuses Mrs. Snyder of dominating him and hypnotizing him with her shameless love until he was irresponsible; while Mrs. Snyder's defense will be that Gray planned and executed the murder himself.

FIVE KILLED WHILE CHINESE SECTIONS BEGIN TONG FIGHTS

Expiration Of Tong Treaty Blamed For New Bloodshed

NEW YORK, March 24.—Chinatown was an armed camp today following a resumption of warfare between the Hip Sing and the On Leong tongs in Chicago, Newark, N. J., and Brooklyn. Two Chinese were killed in Brooklyn, and according to advices to the authorities, one in Chicago, one in Newark, N. J., and one in Manchester, Conn.

Renewal of hostilities followed the expiration of a peace pact between the rival tongs dated March 23, 1925.

Police, detectives and officers from the immigration service patrolled the narrow crooked streets of Chinatown keeping crowds moving and watching for another outbreak of shooting.

MANCHESTER, Conn., March 24.—The latest war between Chinese tongs made itself felt here today. An unidentified Chinese was shot and instantly killed in an Oak St. laundry here this morning by another Chinese who is believed to have arrived and departed in a taxicab.

CHICAGO, March 24.—One alleged tongman, Chin Park, was dead in Chicago today, shot in a gambling room in the heart of Chinatown.

Police believe Chin Park was killed in a renewal of the Hip Sing On Leong tong feud.

CLEVELAND, March 24.—A number of Chinese are in police custody following the shooting of Jim Yee, East Side laundryman here today, in what police believe to be a new outbreak of tong warfare.

Yee was shot four times while working in the laundry and detectives rounded up several suspects immediately.

Little hope is held out for Yee's recovery, hospital attendants say.

NEW HAVEN, March 24.—Two young Chinese residents of New York are being held here as suspects following the slaying of an unidentified Chinese in Manchester earlier in the day. They are Su Hu Wing, 22, and Chin Long, 24, both describing themselves as restaurant workers. The suspects were questioned pending the arrival of Manchester and state police officials.

With the Chinese was arrested William H. Foran, a Meriden taxicab driver, who was driving the Chinese. Foran told the police that his fare had left a taxicab at Meriden and transferred to his machine for the run to New Haven.

PITTSBURGH, March 23.—Chinese tong warfare broke out here today after a two year peace treaty between two rival tongs ended at midnight.

Two Chinese said to be members of the On Leong tong, were wounded when an unknown assailant, believed by police to be a member of the Hip Sing rival tong, fired a revolver at them as they left a Chinese gathering place to return to their laundry in another section of the city.

The Hip Sing and On Leong tong headquarters are adjoining in the Chinese quarters here.

SAFARI DROPS PART OF LIBEL CHARGES; AMENDS PETITION

Charge Results In Recess—Action Urged By Judge

FEDERAL BUILDING, Detroit, March 24.—Aaron Safari today dropped one-third of his 141 libel charges against Henry Ford and the Dearborn Independent.

Counsel for the so-called wheat king eliminated approximately fifty of his libel accusations by filing an amended declaration of libel in the million-dollar libel suit.

Counsel for Ford immediately insisted on an adjournment until Monday so they could study the new declarations. The court however ordered only a recess until 2 o'clock this afternoon.

"We have not seen the amendments," said Stewart Haynes, Ford's counsel. "It may change the entire course of our defense. We do not wish to go ahead in the dark. Mr. Gallagher knew two weeks ago, was told by the court that amendments would have to be made."

This move was taken by the plaintiff on the advice of Federal Judge Fred M. Raymond, who ruled several days ago that the original declaration was "insufficient."

REPORTS OF CONFERENCE

OF D. A. R. HEARD AT MEET

Miss Sarah Bell Williams was hostess at her home on E. Market St., Wednesday afternoon, to the D. A. R. chapter. The guests were: Mrs. S. O. Hale, Mrs. W. H. McGervey, delegates and Mrs. A. C. Messenger, gave reports of the twenty-eighth annual state conference held at Columbus the past week.

The three members of the chapter gave the high points of the conference in a very interesting manner. Mr. Messenger is state chairman of international relations and she brought back to her own chapter, the great need of the support of all the daughters in the fight against propaganda, Bolshevism and "bureaucracy."

Mrs. McGervey interestingly reported the state officers' club, which she attended Monday evening of the conference and at which Mrs. Messenger gave a toast, "To The Has-Beens."

The opening session of the conference was held Tuesday evening, when Dr. W. R. McChesney, president of Cedarville College, gave a most inspiring address on "The Heritage and Responsibilities of the Daughters of the American Revolution."

Mrs. S. O. Hale, regent of Catherine Greene Chapter, told of the Wednesday afternoon part of the conference. On Thursday morning, a high honor was paid Catherine Greene Chapter, by the election of Mrs. William Magee Wilson, Xenia, as honorary state regent. Mrs. Wilson served three years as state regent and three years as vice president general of the national society.

On Thursday evening of the conference, at the banquet at the Neil House, covers were laid for more than 500 delegates when Mrs. Van der Veer Taylor, Columbus, formerly of Xenia, gave the principal address. She told the history of the state organization and the part the various state regents played in the growth of the society. Her talk was illustrated with stereopticon slides.

Refreshments were served after the reports by Miss Williams, who was assisted by Mrs. Leon Reed, Miss Clara Hirst and Mrs. Harry E. Kiernan.

Mrs. Harry Thompson, Columbus and Mrs. Jacobus Baldwin, were also delegates to the state conference from Catherine Greene Chapter.

CHILDREN CELEBRATE BIRTHDAYS WITH PARTY

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Clark was the scene of a very pretty affair, when their son and nephew, Masters Leo and Leroy Clark, celebrated their birthdays with a St. Patrick's Day party.

The refreshment table was decorated in pink and green, with a rose basket and shamrock at each place. Two large birthday cakes, decorated with pink roses and green leaves, held places of honor, one bearing eight candles for Leo and the other, one, for Leroy.

A delicious luncheon was served and the children were presented dainty favors. Leo and Leroy received many gifts. Games were played and prizes were won by James Rayburn and Violet Murray.

The youngsters present were Alberta Murray, Violet Murray, Anna Rayburn, James Rayburn, Marveta Tolle, Imogene Tolle, Marjorie Brown, Rector Brown, Donald Brown, Ernest Hillard, Fredrick Lee Hillard, Leo Clark, Kenneth Clark, Thurlie Clark, Mrs. Brown and Mrs. Myrtle Garber were also present together with the following out-of-town guests: Mrs. Catherine Wilson, Mrs. Opa Clark and son, Lawrence Clark and Mr. Frank Bush.

O. E. S. CHAPTER SURPRISES MEMBER

About thirty members of Aldora Chapter, O. E. S., surprised Mrs. J. C. Denham, at her home Tuesday evening, as a reminder of her birthday. Mrs. Denham received many lovely gifts. Games, contests and music were enjoyed.

Refreshments were served and a good time enjoyed by all the guests.

How to Achieve Beauty

LET YOUR EASTER COSTUME ENHANCE YOUR BEAUTY

What Business and Outdoor Type of Woman Should Wear.

The business or professional woman is the woman with a well-ordered mind. She must, of necessity, choose mostly dark clothes on simple lines, though these should not be drab, dull ones.

To be well-groomed is her watchword. She registers a certain crispness that is the result of self-possession and a well-directed will. Her clothes must be simple in line, graceful in finish, and rich in texture. A sense of balance must prevail. Softness is denied her and exaggeration is deadly.

The outdoor or athletic type of woman is agile, broad-shouldered, efficient. She is self-reliant, yet possesses perfect social grace. Her motions are generous, sweeping and sometimes abrupt, portraying a freedom that lends a fascinating nonchalance to her whole being.

If you are an outdoor woman there is nothing artificial about you and your clothes as well as your make-up should be planned to emphasize your personality.

The tailored mode is all yours, and you should have but little difficulty in choosing from the vast selections of tailored and sports type clothes which are now so much in vogue, both in this country and abroad. The simple straight lines which dominate the practical type of apparel thoroughly become you.

However, when it comes to choosing fashions for more dressy occasions, your problems are not so easily solved. The dainty frills and flurries that are so inseparable a part of your petite sister's simply "come to grief" when you try to blend them with your happy-go-lucky spirit. Your ample movements lose their swing when they are restricted by the fragility of dainty chiffons and laces, or confined to restrained lines.

You should therefore choose gowns with long, clear, well-defined and unbroken lines. Deep V-necks give you dignity and tend to slenderize your figure; surplice drapes and other diagonal lines do much toward lending grace, for "simplicity," not "severity," must be yours.

Your skirts for either day or evening should be designed with a thought to pleats, drapes or wrap-around effects that simulate slenderness when standing, but allow for unrestricted freedom when in motion; hence the present vogue of slightly-flared effects and inverted pleats injected into an otherwise slim silhouette is one of which you may well take advantage. A good rule for you is that all lines should move or less conform to the proportions of your body with little or nothing to flutter and fly from your figure as you swing along. Then you will be able to act perfectly at ease and preserve the grace you enjoy out of doors.

CRIME NEWS

Addressing a conference on crime, Charles H. Dennis, editor of the Chicago Daily News, makes this reply to critics who condemn the papers for their use of crime news:

"Crime obtrudes itself, while news of meritorious actions, as a rule, is surprisingly difficult to capture.

"The outcry so many people make against the publication of crime news is in a sense an outcry against human nature. It is the province of a newspaper to be as interesting as possible, within the bounds of good taste and good morals. A newspaper exists only because it is a purveyor of news. If it ceases to publish the news in reasonably complete form, it presently ceases to exist, for the public deems it to a swift or lingering death, and rightly so."

The same general idea might be put in a slightly different way. Take news that circulates naturally by word of mouth, in any community, without help from newspapers. What kind of news gains quickest currency and widest distribution by this "underground route?" Crime news or police news, mostly.

Let a murder or robbery or fight or unexplained death occur, and see how it spreads through the community! Nearly everybody makes it his business to tell his neighbors. And people seem instinctively to consider evil news more important than good news. That is merely what the newspapers seem to do on a bigger scale, over a wider range.

Yet even so, possibly the newspapers are blamed over-much. The amount of crime news they print is exaggerated. In any but the yellowest papers, it bears a much lower proportion to the total volume of news than people imagine. The headlines, or else readers' own keen interest in such news, may mislead them in estimating it.

SPARE PARTS FOR THE BODY

What the human body needs, according to Dr. Serge Voronoff, the gland specialist, is spare parts. Some organs wear out sooner than others. If they could be replaced like the worn-out parts of an automobile, he suggests, the life of the whole body could be prolonged until it finally went to pieces all at once, like the famous "one-hoss shay." Thus the physical machine, he thinks, might last as much as 130 years.

That may be true, though it remains to be proved. The idea is easily grasped by Americans, who invented the spare parts system. It has been made familiar, too, by the work of Dr. Alexis Carrel of the Rockefeller Institute, who has shown it to be possible to preserve human tissue alive indefinitely in a saline solution. That suggests on ice-box full of bodily material for grafting or substitution.

It will take time, however, for the general run of people—especially the old people for whom such benefits are intended—to accept this innovation. And if it ever is generally accepted in America, it will probably be the Carrel system rather than the Voronoff system that wins.

LONG CABINET TERMS EXCEPTIONAL

Dr. John J. Tigert, United States commissioner of education, has been digging into the question of cabinet officers' tenure of life. He finds that during the 60 years between 1861 and 1921 the average tenure was two years and eight months.

Since 1921 at least three members of the present cabinet have far outstripped that average—Mellon, Hoover and Davis (James J.). Dr. Hubert Work, secretary of the interior, who completed four years in that post on March 4, 1927, has filled it longer than all but three predecessors.

CALLOSITIES

Almost everybody who reaches middle life has one or more of those collections of hard, horny cells called callosities. They occur almost entirely upon the hands and the feet, particularly the palms and soles. They are not the same as corns, for while corns, for white corns, are also collections of hard, horny cells, they include in addition the endings of one or more peripheral nerves which makes them exquisitely sensitive and often very painful. The corn is also frequently more highly organized than the callosity and when it is cut may bleed furiously.

A form of callosity which is sometimes very trying and may completely cripple one or both hands by contracting the firm tissue (known as fascia). In the palm, is the disfiguring deformity known as Dupuytren's contraction, after the great French surgeon who described it.

A callosity consists of an accumulation of hardened cells of the outer or horny layer of the skin, thick and flat, or rounded, and gray or yellowish brown in color. When the skin first begins to thicken there is no apparent change in its appearance, but by and by, if the exciting cause is continued long enough, a kind of lump is formed more or less elevated above the surrounding skin. The adjacent lines and folds of the skin may remain unchanged or if the lump becomes very considerable in size the lines may be obliterated.

The callosity may be so located that it will interfere with the ordinary use of the hand or foot affected and this is particularly the case when it is in the palm of the hand and pulls the fingers over so that they can no longer be used to advantage. The skin in these cases is brittle, breaks easily if force is used to bend the parts or to produce motion, and painful cracks and fissures may result.

Injuries of this kind are sometimes followed by severe inflammation and abscess which may result in the sloughing out of the hand and horny mass, producing a cure at the expense of more or less suffering.

Callosities are caused by pressure and friction upon one particular spot, which is kept up continuously or intermittently. Those who use their hands in hard labor

"My Catarrh is all gone"

What freedom in those words! Only those can realize who know the distress of clogged nose, catarrhal deafness, offensive breath, raising of mucus, and lowered vitality due to catarrh. Yet thousands still endure catarrh needlessly, because they are treating symptoms instead of the cause.

Catarrh is an inflamed condition of the mucous membrane—the delicate lining of the air passages of nose, throat and head. When this is corrected, catarrh disappears.

Salves and ointments give only temporary relief. But Hall's Catarrh Medicine because it goes directly to the cause has been successful for over 40 years. Ask your druggist. Price 50c. F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio.

KELLYGRAMS

WHEN MONEY HAS NO INFLUENCE

For some reason, I always feel like cheering whenever I hear of a man who declines alluring offers of big money to engage in something that he doesn't like.

Men who have family responsibilities are often compelled to hold uninteresting jobs rather than do less profitable work more to their taste. It requires courage to turn down a dull but honorable job that would mean increased income.

My observation has been that a man who refuses to take a less congenial job for more money is not only honest but exceptionally intelligent. He knows that no amount of money can compensate for being unhappy in his job. Because he has his philosophical attitude, he is usually a charming fellow.

I know a man who was a lawyer in an Ohio city, with every prospect of becoming a leading, influential citizen, but gave up not only his business connections but a beautiful home, to start life over again as a violinist in an orchestra. Moreover, his wife made equally important sacrifices to encourage him in doing what he thought best. His only explanation was that he didn't enjoy practicing law and had always wanted to earn his living by making music. While today he may have less money than he used to, I never saw a man so happy. Whether he is foolish or not, depends on how you feel about it.

George Kelly, famous playwright, author of "The Show-Off" and "Craig's Wife," received an offer to write motion pictures at an almost incredible salary. But he promptly declined.

"I have all the money I need," he explained, "so why should I write plays that I probably would not even recognize on the screen as my own, merely to make more money?"

I don't even know this playwright, despite our nomenclature similarity, but I'll wager a gingersnap that he's a stickler for honesty. And I would make a similar wager about Sam McGowan, former paymaster general of the United States navy, who, according to fairly well authenticated stories, used to give away every penny he had in the bank, before depositing his newest pay check each month. Knowing that he would retire on full pay and had no dependents, he couldn't see any sense in saving money beyond his simple requirements.

Having in mind all the old jokes about his Scotch, imagine a man like that with a Mc in front of his name!

When the late John M. Siddall was putting the American Magazine on its feet, a rival publisher tried to hire him, and practically offered him a blank contract to fill in with his own figures. But John shook his head and said: "No, I don't if I'd be as happy as where I am."

"But," asked the publisher, "if you had no intention of considering such a contract why did you come here to see me?"

"You're a famous man," replied

SIGNIFICANT SAYINGS OF THE DAY

"When a flapper smokes cigarettes, attempts to achieve a boyish figure and dresses like her older brother, she is simply admitting her inferiority in a man-made world. . . . The dominant position of the man in our culture often makes the girl feel inferior. She starts out to overcome this inferiority by changing her nature. She climbs trees, begins to smoke, dresses like a boy, becomes untidy and wants to look dirty. Often she reaches the age of ten without even being taught that girls are girls and boys are boys, and that one can never become the other." —Dr. Alfred Adler, celebrated psychoanalyst.

"Women of America spend more for rouge and face powder than their husbands and fathers spend on household furniture." —J. B. Fields, counsel for the furniture makers on trial in Chicago.

CENTRAL RECEIVES CHANCE TO COMPETE AT CARNEGIE MEET

Central High School has been invited to send a track team to the eleventh annual interscholastic track and field meet at the Carnegie Institute of Technology at Pittsburgh, Pa., May 7.

Five hundred and forty-six different high schools in Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Ohio, New York and Maryland have been asked to compete.

Inasmuch as the local high school does not include track and field events on its sporting calendar and is not organizing a team this year, the offer will be declined, according to Principal Spencer Shank.

As usual competition in the Carnegie meet will be restricted to high schools only, no prep schools being invited. Championship relays in four different classes will be one of the additional features of the meet.

The annual Carnegie interscholastic has become the largest meet of its kind in western Pennsylvania. Plans are being made this year to receive between 700 and 1,000 competitors. A cup will be awarded to the school winning the track and field meet and similar trophies are offered for the winning teams in relay races. Individual trophies for the winners of the various events will include gold, silver and bronze medals.

LOOT RECOVERED AS PAIR ARRESTED FOR ROBBERY AT GARAGE

Charged with the theft of a tire, two batteries and some tools from the garage in the rear of the home of Miss Anna M. Slate, 215 W. Main St., Robert Johnson, 21, and Henry Hopkins, 17, were arrested by police Wednesday.

Pleading guilty to grand larceny, Johnson was bound over to the grand jury by Mayor John W. Prugh Thursday morning and committed to the County Jail in default of $500 bond. Hopkins, being a minor, will be charged with juvenile delinquency in Juvenile Court. He was also transferred to the County Jail Thursday.

The burglary was committed Tuesday night, the pair forcing an entrance to the garage. Automobiles owned by D. H. Preston and W. J. Dorton, the latter special patrolman on the Police Department, are stored in the garage.

The youths made an attempt to sell one of the batteries but police recovered all of the stolen goods with the exception of one battery, which could not be found despite a search.

Johnson was the first to be arrested by Patrolman Fred Jones and Peter Shagin, motorcycle policeman, after which Hopkins was taken into custody shortly afterward by Patrolman Jones.

SAYS FORD TO BUILD EIGHT CYLINDER CAR

DETROIT, March 24.—Henry Ford has an eight cylinder air cooled motor that can be built into a car as cheap as the present Ford model, Barney Oldfield, veteran racing driver declared today.

"It has been three years since I saw Henry, but he showed me at that time an eight cylinder motor that I liked very much," Oldfield said. "I asked him why he didn't build it and sell it, thinking perhaps it would cost too much."

"His reply was that he could build a car with that motor as cheap as his present model T Ford. When I asked him why he didn't do it, he said that he was going to wait three or four years."

Whites of eggs may be beaten to a froth quickly if you add a pinch of powdered sugar and fine salt and whip on a dinner plate with a broad-pointed knife.

Keep Fit!

Good Health Requires Good Elimination.

To be well, you must keep your blood stream free from impurities. If the kidneys lag, allowing body poisons to accumulate, a toxic condition is created. One is apt to feel dull, languid, tired and aching. A nagging backache is sometimes a symptom, with drowsy headaches and dizzy spells. That the kidneys are not functioning properly is often shown by burning or scanty passage of secretions. If you have reason to suspect improper kidney functioning, try Doan's Pills—a tested stimulant diuretic. Users praise them throughout the United States. Ask your neighbor!

BISHOP SAYS YOUTH NOT DANGEROUS AGE FOR VICTORY FIGHT

"Youth is not the dangerous age. The most dangerous age in a man's life is between forty and sixty. It is then that he is so likely to become wearied with the battle for the right. He is strongly tempted to rest on the oars, to let well enough alone, to feel that there is not much use to go on."

Bishop Theodore I. Reese, of the Episcopal diocese of Southern Ohio, made these remarks when he spoke to a large congregation at Christ Episcopal Church, Wednesday evening.

OLD STOMACHS MADE NEW

So You Eat What You Like Without Distress

Diapepsin is a powerful influence in the digestion of meat, eggs, cheese, butter, fats, bread, white flour food, cereals and all most everything we eat. Thus, when you chew one or two of these remarkable digesters you practically get a new stomach, even if it seems old, played out and capable only of handling a spoonful of soup and a small cracker.

A host of people, apprehensive of stomach ulcers and catarrh of the stomach, soon discovered that Diapepsin removed all the pain, fullness, gasiness, sour, acid risings—cause of headache, biliousness, sleeplessness and many other distresses, besides promoting a hearty appetite and increasing health and strength. By all means try these digesters. Get a 60 cent package of Diapepsin at any drug store.

He took for the subject of his address "Living Through Victory to The End." "Men have come to me," Bishop Reese said, "and have told me that they could no longer keep up the struggle. They lacked the strength to go on and live the life of victory. They have even wistfully said they wished somehow they could obtain power to go on."

"On the other hand, there are people who have gone on faithfully to the end, even against the greatest difficulties and amidst the severest trials. There are some men, who have gone down slowly sink through like a battleship pierced through by the shot of cannon, but they have kept the flag of Christian ideals flying gloriously at the masthead, clear to the end. They never gave up the fight. Even in seeming defeat, they won a tremendous victory."

"What is it that gives us the strength to live victoriously? It is the power of God. By reaching out to Him, by opening the windows of our soul to Him, we obtain strength for every need. He it is who showed us through Christ the way to victory and if we seek Him and rest in Him, we too, shall have peace and power and victory in our lives."

After his address, Bishop Reese administered confirmation to a group of people presented to him for this purpose. Earl Littleton of Yellow Springs, sang the offertory solo.

Earlier in the evening, dinner was served to a hundred members and friends of the congregation in the parish house. Bishop Reese was the principal guest at this occasion.

The Theatre

By FLEET SMITH
NEW YORK, March 24.—The original story for the screen play has come into its own at last. For that is what Jesse L. Lasky's newly announced plan to form an Authors' Council really means. But don't remove the tarpaulin from your typewriters, you who would be scenario writers. The chances of seeing your creation on the celluloid are still about 10,000 to one. Ideas and stories will be considered and developed by the Authors' Council only when they are submitted by acknowledged literary figures.

William Le Baron, author, playwright and former editor of Collier's Magazine, will head the new Council. Mr. Le Baron becomes available for the post because of the transfer of Paramount producing activities to Hollywood. For the past two years he has been producing chief at the Astoria studio. Hence, he is acquainted intimately with the peculiar characteristics and requirements of the screen story, as distinct from the purely literary creation. Associated with him will be Owen Davis, master dramatist, and on the international side, Frederick Lonsdale, the brilliant British playwright, and Alfred Savoir, French playwright.

Establishment of the Council indicates a recognition of an original idea. For example, "The Big Parade," "The Ten Commandments," "Old Ironsides," "The Rough Riders," "Wings," "Metropolis," "The Wedding March," "C. B. DeMille's 'The King of Kings'" all started from an epic idea. It will be interesting watching the results of this truly constructive movement to encourage the active support of the world's famous writers in working for the films.

The sad death of Charles Emmett Mack, reported from Hollywood as due an automobile accident, has thrown the entire motion picture profession into grief. Not a conspicuous playboy type, Mack's earnest serious qualities had endeared him to the ranks of the screen actors. Mack first entered films as an humble property boy for D. W. Griffith. That kindly man was attracted to the quiet Irish boy and decided to make an actor of him. It is doubtful if even the discerning Griffith imagined how far Mack would go.

Mack's death, like Valentino, occurred when he was about to reach the heights. His last film work was in "The Rough Riders," Paramount's big Spanish-American war production and when the picture had its Manhattan Premiere during the week, the critics were unanimous in praising his performance as the finest of his career. In "The Rough Riders" Mack dies after a heroic charge up San Juan Hill. He was on the threshold of a brilliant career. His real picture debut occurred in Griffith's "Dream Street," with Carol Dempster and Ralph Graves. Another notable film in which he appeared was "America."

Adolph Zukor has gone into the restaurant business. Fifteen years ago when he organized the Famous Players Company Mr. Zukor used to eat in a Childs Restaurant, when he was in a hurry. Now that he has built a magnificent theatre and office building, the Paramount Building, at Forty-third street and Broadway, he has leased a space to the Childs company and the terms of the agreement will allow him to share in the profits. So, when he is busy, he can eat in the restaurant and every bit of food he puts into his mouth will mean money in his pocket.

SERVICES PLANNED
Funeral services for Miss Kate Lee, 70, this city, who died at a Methodist Home in Cincinnati Wednesday morning, will be held Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock at the undertaking parlors of Ralph M. Neeld, with interment in Woodland Cemetery.

OUR 25TH YEAR

J.C. PENNEY Co.
"where savings are greatest"
 37-39 East Main St., Xenia, Ohio

OUR SILVER YEAR

"From Acorn to Oak"

1902
 A small dry goods, shoe and clothing store was opened in a small town in the West, serving a few hundred homes.

1927
 The one small store has grown into a Nation-wide Institution of 773 Department Stores, serving millions of homes.

A quarter of a century of achievement . . . a period of human helpfulness

Beginning April 1st, we will celebrate with pride and thankfulness, our Twenty-fifth or Silver Anniversary—with pride for the privilege of serving the American public—with thankfulness for the generous response that has come to our effort.

ORIGINAL STORE AT KEMMERER, WYO.

Since the Spring day in April, 1902, when Mr. Penney inaugurated, in a small and inconspicuous manner, a Retail Shopping Service which was destined to become one of Nation-wide Helpfulness, a quarter of a century has passed.

It has been a period of notable growth and expansion, of winning millions of friends, of serving them faithfully, of basing achievement upon the good will of mutual satisfaction.

During all these eventful years, we have been mindful of our responsibilities to the legion of patrons who have contributed and are today contributing, so continuously and so generously, in helping to make our Service one not of profit alone but of the confidence that rests on good will.

Never for a moment have we knowingly wavered from the responsibility of this relationship. It has always been to us an inspiration to reach out for greater things, that we might be the better prepared to render a Service which should prove to be more and more beneficial to the increasing numbers who come to us.

Not only is that one little Golden Rule Store of 1902—now itself grown to far larger proportions—still serving the people in and about Kemmerer, Wyoming, but there has sprung from its applied principles and policies, others to a present total of 773 Department Stores, scattered over 46 States.

All these are children of what we now affectionately term The Mother Store; all happily operate in the Service of the public under the name of the J. C. Penney Company.

The Founder of this Organization—Mr. James C. Penney—built in his pioneer days more enduring and substantially than he knew.

His ideals and practices—square treatment alike to all always—and the extent to which he packed Value into every Dollar of purchase—these constitute the pattern according to which this enormous business has been shaped and which has caused it to grow until it has now become a Nation-wide Institution, serving more than 3,000,000 homes.

The dynamic selective and buying power of the Company created by its tremendous volume of cash sales, which in 1926, amounted to $115,682,737.86, gives a saving power to the public which means much to the thrift and to the economic life of the people of every community where it operates a Store.

At this milestone in our history, we pause only long enough to express our thanks to the great American people for their continued confidence and appreciation of our efforts in their behalf and to offer the assurance that in the future as in the past we shall strive to serve not only well but better and better with each succeeding business day.

WHAT to WEAR and HOW to WEAR IT

By LUCY CLAIRE
Favorite Fashion Adviser
of the Smart Set

There are some women who always seem to have just the right frock for every occasion that presents itself. This can be accomplished in one of two ways—the first and most convenient would be to have an unlimited clothes budget, the other and most important means is to learn the art of selecting clothes that are adaptable to many occasions.

You must decide, first, just what your usual social needs are and then provide for the possible emergencies. As the day advances, each hour brings an added formality in dressing so I am going to concentrate today on the dinner hour and the time following.

Each day I realize more and more the importance of lace. Its sheerness, its fluffiness, its femininity, and its wonderful adaptability to our current mode! But lace has its place and when it is out of place, I know of nothing that is a greater failure.

Let us take first the dinner which is always more formal than daytime occasions. Many of the loveliest lace frocks have long sleeves and necklines which are only slightly decollete in keeping with the less formal spirit of the dress. Notice the dress at the right which is made of soft black silk lace over a straight slip of delicate flesh-colored crepe de chine. It has been cut along simple lines so that the dainty scroll pattern in the lace shows off to advantage and it is more particularly brought out in sharp relief against the light flesh foundation.

Since frocks are so very short, those of sheer material are invariably made with an irregular hemline. We, therefore, find deep godets which extend from hip to hem on each side and are dropped from a straight yoke in the front and back. A dress of this type can be appropriately worn at practically any dinner occasion and find its place throughout an evening entertainment to follow in the home.

There are many times when a dinner is merely the first occasion of the evening and is to be followed by dancing later. I should advise for this a frock along more formal lines—that is, sleeveless and moderately decollete.

One of the most delightful combinations for those of blonde or golden brown hair and fair complexion is the lace tinted in tones of beige and blonde which is most often laid over a foundation of delicate salmon or peach colors. These are all warm, glowing tones, and are particularly delightful under the artificial lights of the evening.

You will notice that the lines of these two dresses are fundamentally identical—they have merely been interpreted to produce varying effects. The low oval neckline is the same in back and front—the waist is straight and the hem is irregular, falling in a deep point in both the front and back.

There are all sorts of adorable little lace accessories—tiny transparent fans, diminutive kerchiefs and even frilled shoe buckles—all of which make one feel almost mid-Victorian in femininity.

Next, I am going to give some time to the kiddies again, because I feel certain that the spring wardrobe is of vital importance to them as well.

AUDITOR'S REPORT SHOWS STATE SHARE FROM CRABBE FINES

State's share of money arising from fines imposed in Greene County for violation of the Crabbe dry act from July 1, 1925, to June 30, 1926, amounted to $1,643.33, compared with $1,234.63 the preceding fiscal year, it is revealed in prohibition enforcement statistics appearing in the annual state auditor's report, showing the collection in each county.

Revenue derived from this source is paid, one-half into the state treasury and one-half to the treasury of the municipality, town, ship or county where the prosecution is held.

The following table shows the state's share of the collection in Greene County since November 3, 1920, when the second Crabbe act, which, upon referendum, was approved by a vote of the electors, became effective:

Nov. 3, 1920 to June 30, 1921	$1,600.
July 1, 1921 to June 30, 1922	$2,282.10
July 1, 1922 to June 30, 1923	$5,833.72
July 1, 1923 to June 30, 1924	$5,479.70
July 1, 1924 to June 30, 1925	$1,234.63
July 1, 1925 to June 30, 1926	$1,643.33

Cedarville College Notes

It is the desire of most humans to look their best. How this may be done by a careful study of lines and texture of material will be demonstrated by Mrs. Cleo Hurley Earhart, costume adviser of The Rike-Kumler Co., Dayton, at Alford Gymnasium, Cedarville.

This night at 8 o'clock under the auspices of the women's advisory board of Cedarville College.

Mrs. Earhart will have ten or twelve living models to demonstrate correct lines and to display gowns for the woman in her home and in business; also gowns for sport, street, afternoon and evening wear. Men will also have a share in this demonstration as at least two models will be used to show the correct and incorrect in men's wear.

Proceeds of the entertainment will be used for equipment for the kitchen and dining room of the new gymnasium.

Music for the occasion will be furnished by pupils of Dr. Talcott, Harrison Solos, Donald Calvert, Selma, Collis, Ann Carr, Antioch Academy; violinist, Helen King, South Charleston; pianist, Leah Glass, Jamestown.

Miss King was first prize winner last year representing South Charleston High School in the Clark County musical contests held in Springfield.

COUNTY LIVESTOCK FIGURES ARE SHOWN

Total number of horses, cattle, mules and asses, sheep, hogs and poultry with their aggregate value as returned for taxation in 1926 in Greene County, are included in interesting live stock statistics contained in the annual report of State Auditor Joseph T. Tracy.

Pile Sufferers

How Far Have You Gotten With Meesy Ointments?

Don't be surprised that suppositories and salves haven't rid you of Piles. The most they can do is bring temporary relief. They never reach the cause—blood stagnation in the lower bowel.

Piles can be removed by an operation. Sure! But who wants to submit to the surgeon's knife when a harmless little tablet taken internally can banish the cause of Piles and bring real, lasting and honest-to-goodness relief?

Forget about an operation and stop using salves. Hem-Roid, the internal remedy discovered by Dr. Leonard, should quickly rid you of Piles the same as it is doing for thousands of others or costs nothing.

Get a package of Hem-Roid today at Sayre's Drug Store or any drugist. It is absolutely harmless and if you aren't delighted with the results you can have your money back.

"LOOK OUT BEHIND!"

Many a back-seat driver has gone mad trying to be heard from a rumble seat. When left out in the cold he can't make it hot for the man at the wheel!

They don't have to issue a license to the back seat driver, he'll take it anyway!

A great many women are telling the world from the tonneau. Just drive the car and they'll drive you crazy!

Well, the spring drive is on, and the spare tire is off. In the winter father uses the car for business. When the warm weather comes it just automatically stops at all the hot dog stands.

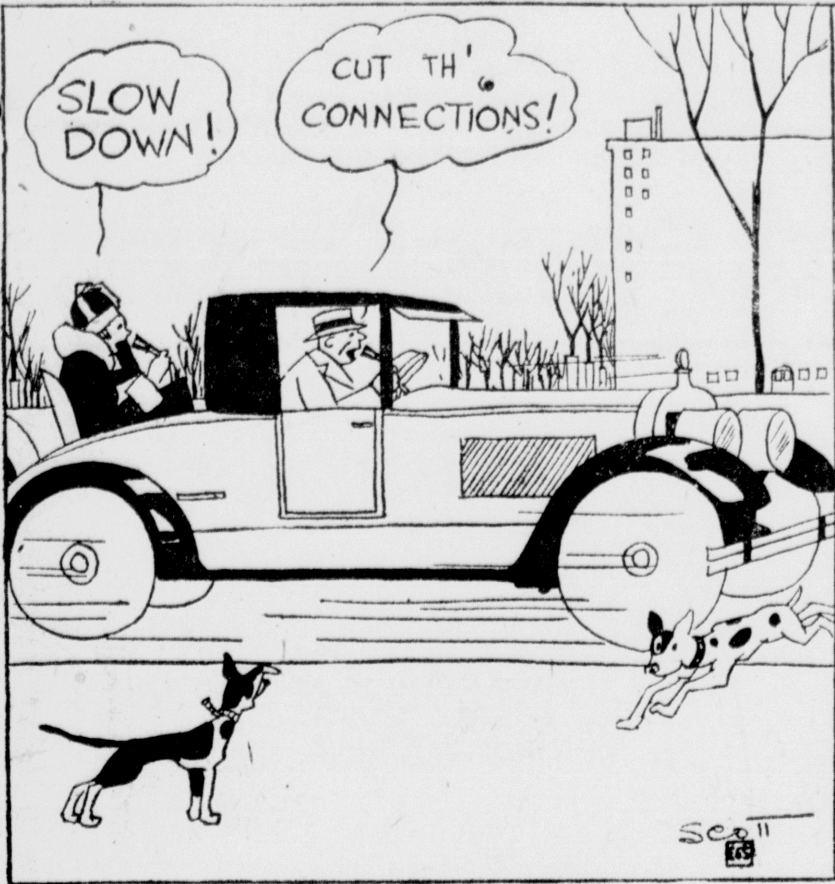

When the entire family take a spin it makes them all jizzy. Mother is afraid that father will get in a rut and he knows that Mother doesn't really need any back to the seat because she's on edge all the time they're out. And when the car jumps she wins by two feet!

"Toot your horn, there's a hill," cries the wife. Her husband says that he's never seen a hill get over yet. She thinks that he's trying to ditch her—if he only could!

Some people are back-seat drivers in life. They are so busy reading the other fellow's mail that they haven't time to open their own.

This sort of person will tell you that the only thing keeping him from the president's chair is the fact that the president hasn't stood up lately.

THE ONE MAN STOP

he's been in one ever since the ceremony. When it comes to railroad tracks the family don't have to go to Europe to have a "rough crossing!"

If a woman is going to drive from the rear she should go 'way back and sit down. Her husband might as well 'give her the wheel,' she'll tear it out of his hands anyway!

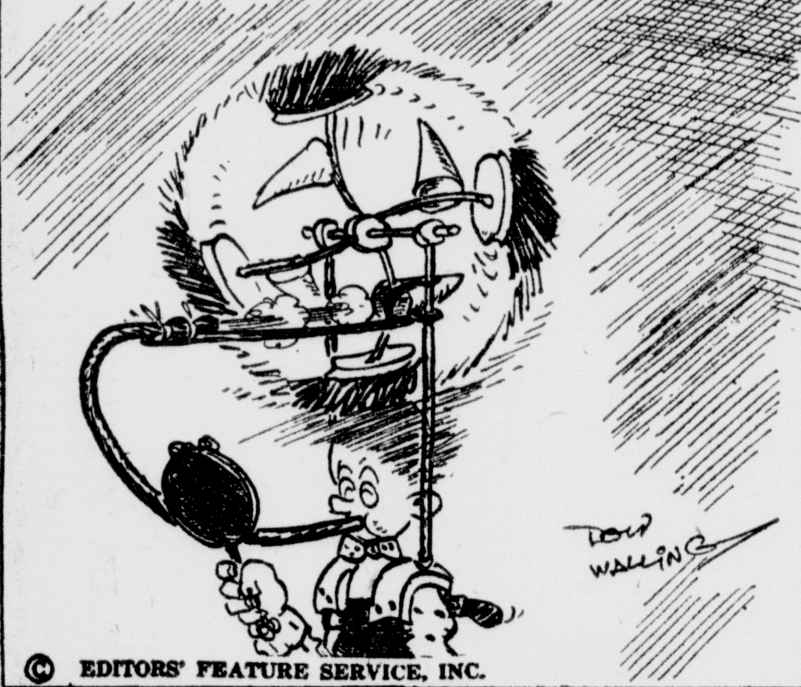

When the speedometer shows 30 miles an hour friend wife gives the impression that "we speed, others

Wives who are back seat drivers on the road call down from upstairs when at home. They give their husbands hints on how to run the business when they couldn't support themselves on both elbows.

This type of woman always tells her husband what she would do in his place—after she re-decorated it. It's a disgrace to be a back-seat driver. Better get up front and take the wheel and you'll discover what makes the cross-roads cross!

RECKLESS DRIVING
TARGET IN SAFETY
CAMPAIGN OF CLUB

Reckless driving is a much discussed subject at this time, is utterly lacking in defenders and precise definition of what constitutes this kind of car operation would go far toward detecting it and stamping it out in the opinion of Oliver Helden, secretary of the Greene County Automobile Club.

"A great deal of driving that is reckless beyond legal doubt, is lost to sight because too many motorists look upon it as a violation of some specific regulation that is entirely too minor to fit the case. When, for instance, a man is seen driving thirty-five miles an hour within a city's limits, it is customary to regard his action as a violation of the speed regulations. There's a speeder," we say. Interest of safety, we should say, might be lenient with a safe speed. More accurately and more to the point, there's a reckless driver," we say. It is not fair to be lenient with a reckless driver.

"Here are, I believe, good definitions of recklessness:

"Driving any vehicle when not legally qualified.

"Driving while intoxicated.

"Driving any vehicle when it is not under practical control, especially at cross walks.

"Failing to exercise due care in crossing or entering the traffic of another highway, bearing in mind that one must not interrupt the traffic on the more traveled thoroughfare.

"Driving any motor vehicle across or into a safety zone.

"Exceeding a reasonable, consistent and safe speed under existing conditions or the speed rate established by law.

"Violating any of the regulations so as to cause danger, or failing to take every reasonable precaution for safety.

"If a driver never does any of these things, he never will be reckless and he will not be primarily to blame in a possible accident.

"The American Automobile Association, with which this club is affiliated, stresses this last point in its continuing campaign for safety."

Annual safety campaign of the Auto Club will be inaugurated April 1.

Allen County has thirty, Champaign, forty-five; Preble, seventy-three; Warren, seventy-eight; Greene, eighty-four; Cuyahoga, Stark, Ashtabula, and Medina Counties have the largest numbers of farms on brick or concrete roads.

Stark and Washington Counties, each with more than 2,500 farms on unimproved mud roads, lead the state. Ashtabula, Belmont, Columbiana, Monroe, Tuscarawas, and Wayne Counties all have more than 2,000 of their farms on unimproved mud roads.

The largest number of farms on good roads, the economists say, are found in counties in the more thickly populated parts of the state.

LOOK AT CHILD'S TONGUE IF SICK,
CROSS, FEVERISH

Hurry, Mother! Remove poisons from little stomach, liver, bowels

Give "California Fig Syrup" at once if bilious or constipated

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once.

When peevish, cross, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, doesn't eat or act naturally or is feverish, stomach sour, breath bad, has stomachache, sore throat, diarrhea, full of cold, give a teaspoonful of "California Fig Syrup," and in a few hours all the foul, constipated waste, undigested food and sour bile gently moves out of the little bowels without griping, and you have a well, playful child again.

You needn't coax sick children to take this harmless "fruit laxative"; they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a bottle of "California Fig Syrup," which has directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeiters sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt. —Adv.

HER MAN
FOREVER MATED

JOHNSON FEATURES INC. 1926

READ THIS FIRST:
SYLVIA STARR has been engaged to RANDALL PHELPS for nearly a year when he asks her to free him from their engagement. He tells her that he's fallen in love with her best friend, FAY SHIRLEY.

Sylvia, heart-broken, gives him up, greatly to the satisfaction of her AUNT AGONY, the shrewd old maid who reared her. She calls Ranny a lazy good-for-nothing, and advises Sylvia to marry PETER WILK, a sober bachelor.

As the time draws near for the wedding of Fay and Ranny, they both decide that they are too much alike to marry, and break the engagement. And Sylvia discovers that Fay is seeing a great deal of her old beau, EDDIE CARTER.

On a moonlit May night, Peter gives a picnic in Sylvia's honor, and the crowd of young people play hide-and-seek in the moonlit woods, like children. Sylvia finds herself paired off with Ranny, who has had rather too much to drink. He makes love to her and tells her that after all, she's the only girl in the world for him! Sylvia, fearful of losing him a second time, suggests that they elope and be married right away. And they do!

Ranny tires of the honeymoon in a short time, and Sylvia and he come back to town and rent a little flat, called The Nest. But somehow or other, Ranny doesn't seem to be happy there, and Sylvia wonders what is the matter with him. Finally she makes up her mind that gawdy that he needs and she spends her own money on a party. But it is a fizzle, owing to the untimely arrival of Aunt Agony upon the scene. Sylvia regrets spending so much money on it, particularly after the monthly bills come in. While she is wondering how to pay them all with her small household allowance, Ranny phones to ask her to lend him fifty dollars that Aunt Agony had given her. He wants it to pay a poker debt, so he says.

CHAPTER XV
SYLVIA didn't hesitate for a second. "My dear," she said, with that deep note of love in her voice that was there whenever she spoke to her husband, "You know there's nothing I'd rather do than lend you that money. And I'm dressing now to go over to Aunt Agony's. I'll bring it down to you on my way there."

She meant what she said, with all her heart. She really was glad to lend Ranny the money.

Love makes some women selfish. It demands gifts from the beloved—gifts of all sorts—not only money and jewels and furs and flowers, but constant flattery and attention.

But with Sylvia Starr love was a very different thing.

In her it awakened all the mothering instinct. It filled her with a tenderness toward Ranny, her husband, that was like the warm protecting devotion of a mother to her young. Ranny was not only her lover, but her child.
